A Method of Estimating Operational Risk Loss Distribution

In loss distribution approach (LDA), the most popular approach to operational risk aggregation, modeling the dependence across business lines has been recognized, however, the research of separately modeling dependence of high-frequency low-severity and low-frequency high-severity loss events is scarce so far.

FINDING OUTLIERS AT MULTIPLE SCALES International

Outlier detection targets those exceptional data whose pattern is rare and lie in low density regions. In this paper, under the assumption of complete spatial randomness inside clusters, we propose an MDV (Multi-scale Deviation of the Volume) approach to identifying outliers.
